Portable Fuel Storage & Handling

Fuel Chief represents the fastest growing product segment in the JohnDow family of automotive service equipment – professional fuel handling equipment. The need for safe, effective, and affordable portable fuel storage to meet the requirements of a myriad of applications and industries has never been greater – and the Fuel Chief line of portable fuel handling equipment meets those needs.

The Fuel Chief line offers more portable gas caddy models than any other company in the country:

- FM Approved models for professional, fuel system related service work
- Poly models with different capacity for basic fuel storage needs
- The first with professional FM Approved models for the unique demands of alternative fuels and flex fuels

Fuel Chief can handle the fuel – on the go, at work, or at home.

Fuel Chief fuel caddies are great for storing and transferring fuel to lawnmowers, generators, heaters – as well as to gravity-fuel boats, ATV's or PWC's.
